Lennon, John & Son (cont)	Obit - John Lennon, 411 Lafayette Avenue, Buffalo. Contractor for the Thomas house, 35 Ross Street, description of the floor plan. Work started on Frank Thomas' handsome residence - cost $55,000. To the JOHN LENNON & SON COMPANY has been awarded the contract for a house to be erected at #35 Ross Street by Frank Thomas, the Batavia coal dealer. A. T. McCowan Co. has started excavating work. The house will be one of the finest in the city, plans calling for a red veneer brick construction with a dark red spanish tile roof. The estimated cost is about $55,000. There will be a three-car garage attached to the rear of the house and the depth of the house and garage together will be 133'. The house will be 44' wide. Among the unusual features will be a large billiard room extending across the front of the basement. The walls and ceiling of the basement will be finished with plaster and there will be a fireplace in the billiard room. The main entrance will be at the south side of the house, opening into a large vestibule and stair hall. The large living room across the front of the first floor will open on a closed porch. The dining room and kitchen will be at the rear and there will be a library on the north side between the kitchen and living room. On the second floor there will be the owner's bedroom and two large guest rooms with a bath adjoining each. The remainder of the second floor will be taken up with maid's quarters, linen storage, a sewing room, etc. There will be an open court between the rear of the house and the garage. The coal bin will be beneath the court and will be filled through a sidewalk manhole.	11-9-1923

Postcard from Donald V. Constable, 10813 Allegany Road, Darien Center, NY 14040 to Mr. David Hoag, 16 Oak Street, Batavia, NY 14020: If you are researching the "log cabin" at any time I can give you the following clues: In 1924 (unfortunately, I did not record the date of the entry) the Historical Society sold the log cabin to the Agricultural Society for $800. ¶ In 1924 (Daily News 9-8-1924) the log cabin is mentioned as site of conservation exhibit at County Fair. ¶ See September 17, 1924, "Daily News", page 6, picture of log cabin - can't remember what text accompanied this picture - probably nothing of great importance. ¶ Wish I could be of more help but was glad to know the Society actually constructed this building. Sincerely, Don. DAR calls for pictures to be displayed in during Fair Week. Used as an office for Italian captives head at the Fairgrounds. Mathes Shell Works

When shells became difficult to obtain [labor got too expensive after the war]
Mr. Mathes developed a lacquer for heels and soles of shoes, applied by air brush - perhaps an early use of the air brush industrially. This manufacture occupied the old building on Jefferson Avenue. He died in 1923. Mother and Aunt of Mildred kept the business going for some years. Called Uni-Lac.

	Mr. Mathes had built the present Kozak factory - was the Uni-Lac factory. Had sold the Jefferson Avenue place to E. N. Rowell about 1919. Ed Walker bought the Lyon Street plant. Does not seem to have used Uni-Lac. Made his Kozak cloth there.	no date

John Miceli circulates a petition to silence trains. Committee, Council made a new protest about train whistles. The Council ratifies a noise ordinance. Anti-noise ordinance adopted. Anti-noise edict to be used against trucks. Noise at GLF - Ellicott, Liberty - complaint. Noise is the night use of a corn drier - the Council to discuss. Anti-noise agitation brings the shutdown of GLF midnight to 6am. More on GLF corn-drier noise. The Council updates, states more clearly, the former measure intended to reduce city noise, such as power tools, barking dogs, loud music.	7-21-1934 9-8-1938 5-2-1950 9-14-1950 9-26-1950 10-17-1950 11-7-1950 11-21-1950 11-6-1951 11-8-1951 11-16, 17-1956 11-20-1956 8-10-1999

	Grace Donohue says Mrs. Nolan was not the sister of Frederic March, as Mary Ryan said, but his niece. Mrs. Donohue worked for the brother of March in New York when her husband was overseas. The family name was Bickel and she worked for John M. Bickel. Frederick March took as stage name a variation of his mother's name, Marcher. The Bickels all lived in Racine, and Barbara Bickel came from Racine. Her mother still lived there. Barbara Bickel was later on, a professor at Brockport. The children of Frederick March and his wife were adopted.	2-12-1983

Odd Fellows	Majestic Lodge no. 754. Batavia Lodge no. 72.
	Batavia Lodge 197 Independent Order of Odd Fellows (IOOF) was instituted circa 1880, in a hall on Ellicott Street, the former St. James Church. This was approximately where the present Ponderosa Restaurant is located - thence to the second of the First National Bank Building and then to the basement of the National Farm and Home Center on East Main Street. It consolidated with the East Pembroke Lodge 194 IOOF in 1956. Majestic Lodge 754 IOOF formed from Batavia Lodge 197 IOOF in about 1896 having their first lodge in a large wooden building opposite Jackson Street on the old Alva Place, vacated by the YMCA. From there they moved to the Massey-Harris Office Building on

Interview with Virginia Trietley. Started his furniture business by chance. In 1903 he started working at the Wood Working Company for $7.50 a week. There for 6 months, then laid off. Worked as a painter in Rochester for $15 a week. When he was let go he came back here where he had relatives and started collecting junk with pushcart. An acquaintance offered furnishings of home for $10. Said his wife had left him and he couldn't bear the sight of familiar things. Too good an offer to pass up so he went home and told his wife they were in the second hand furniture business. That was 39 years ago - 1914. He lived at 400 Jackson, next door to the present store. There was a barn on the store site which served as a showroom. The transition to new furniture was gradual. Built his first real showroom 30 years ago. Has enlarged four times. The recent enlargement doubled the floor space. The Lockport store was opened in 1927. The Kenmore store in 1951. Started a carpet store in Rochester in 1949. Grand Opening of new store.	4-15-1953

Polish Christmas	Essay: POLISH CHRISTMAS EVE The Day before Christmas is a fast day. The Christmas Eve dinner is the most important meal of the year. The number of invited guests must be an even number for luck. One place, however, is set for the unexpected guest. It could be taken by a stranger knocking at the door or it could remain empty for a loved one. There is much ritual with the Wigilia (vee-GEE-lee-ah) as Christmas Eve is called. Wherever there are Poles on Christmas Eve, there will be Oplatek (oh-PLAH-tehk), a special wafer baked for this purpose with a cross or some other religious emblem on it. It is placed on a plate and the host and hostess break it with each member of the household and each guest who also break it with one another - lastly the host and hostess break it with each other. In our home, my father would give thanks for the past year and ask for blessings for the coming year. Under the white tablecloth, a few blades of straw would remind people of the manger. The meal will have dishes to represent all elements of the land lest any of the spirits connected with a particular husbandry be forgotten or offended. There will be mushrooms from the woods, kaska (a grain) for the fields, fish for the water and fruit from the orchard. The meal will have an uneven number of dishes for luck. Our meal usually consisted of mushroom soup, fish, beets, kaska, and perogi. Perogi are made from a noodle-like dough cut in a 2½ to 3 inch circle on which is placed well	no date

	Benny potrzybowski says: "We made the Falcons in our history sound light minded, a group that organized around a bar. It organized in the church hall which was then on the corner of Jackson and South Jackson Streets. There were then about 8 men in the group. The men met in several places before buying the Dom Palski Hall from the Polish Alliance in 1939. The group had met in an upstairs room over Konarski's on Swan Street - before that at a Polish market on the corner of Ellicott and Otis. They moved to a house on the corner of Sumner and Osterhout Avenue that was moved to Swan Street across from the church when Osterhout was extended to Otis. Some time about then the group started a Drum Corps. They then moved to Ellicott Street, the corner of Otis where they had one big room - in 1913. Several groups had built Dom Palski Hall and rebuilt it after a fire destroyed much of it. This is the present Falcons Nest. The Falcons have built a pavilion behind Dom Palski Hall where they hold activities. They share the parking area most of which belongs to the church. Both Falcons and Polish Alliance meet, the Falcons monthly, the Polish Alliance twice a year."	10-10-1995

Pottle, Enid Mathes	Married Winston Pottle November 20, 1941. He was born in Norfolk, England. He was then in the army, Master Sergeant. He died of a gunshot wound, said by the army to have been accidental, in 1945, as he was being released from the service. Enid then had her son, Winston, whom she had to raise as a single mother. Both members of her family, and his family, seem to have supported her with comfort and company. The members of his squadron had a book printed, his picture appearing on the cover, intended as a memorial to him. He was 36 when he died. Information supplied by Enid. She claims Roger Easton, later residing in Denver shot her husband. She talked to him by telephone fifty years later and he lied to her, about having known her husband.	no date

Pratt, A. S. (cont)	The article concerns two men: A grandfather and his grandson: my great-grandfather and my uncle. Algernon Sidney Pratt I was a very well-known person in this part of the state. Calling him a calligrapher is not exactly the right title. He did beautiful elaborate writing of all kinds and made the original master copies for the Copybooks for the Spencerian System of writing used by several schools in Western New York including the several seminaries in this area. He was also its teacher. You know the story of the treatment given prophets in their own countries. That happened to him. His masterpiece, as he called it, won the prize at the Crystal Palace in London which gave him the championship title. For some reason, he has never received any acclaim here. His great-great-grandson now owns that piece. Algernon Sidney Pratt II, his grandson, was the local blacksmith. Yes, he was a blacksmith for years, turning to wrought iron after the use of horses dwindled. He made standards for lamps as well as railings, etc. It was his ability to do such fine work that led him to be asked to do the iron work for the stone building on the campus at the University of Buffalo. His son, my cousin, lives across from me at 139 Trumbull Parkway. My mother, Alice Pratt Chapman, was his youngest sister. Since I know your penchant to be correct in your information, I thought you would like this bit of data. "My hat is off to you" for the years of toil you have put into this priceless work. Sincerely, Lucile Raab

	Lived two doors from the Trooper's barrack when they were in the Dyke Roller rink. She says she passed the barracks on her way to work. A boy friend had given her candy which she was eating on her way to work and she stopped to talk to the troopers Dalmatian when W. W. came out reading a paper held up before his face. A few days later he called the house and asked if she would go to the Fair. She said she probably would. WW asked if she would come to the barracks to pick up her passes or should he bring them over. She said she would send her father for them. She went to the Fair with friends and came home in the patrol car with WW to the amusement of the neighbors. By the time the new barracks were built she was engaged and had a front seat at the dedication, and dinner at the Hotel Richmond with all the big shots from Albany. That was a dazzling experience for her. Told on November 12, 1981. The news item when WW came said he was a bachelor.

Sacred Heart School (cont)	Father Radziszewski and 3 Felician Sisters arrived October 1, 1918. The school numbered 80 at Easter time 1919. The Sisters moved to a building intended to house the school temporarily - joined to the sisters convent, provided 2 classrooms, when the creek flooded making both the church and school unusable. Father Cichowski converted the parish hall to a temporary church. The school moved to St. Anthony's Hall. In September 1942 classes reopened in the parish. Construction of a new church began in 1953. Once again the children had to be moved and went back to St. Anthony's. In February 1955 the modern school opened. Then on the teaching staff: Sister M. Maximillia; Sister M. Leona; Sister M. Adirabilis. Enrollment was 77. In 1970 Sacred Heart was joined by St. Anthony's as Consolidated Catholic Schools of Batavia. Sacred Heart housed K, 1, 2, 3 grades. St. James Christmas Star	Dorothy Little says her husband, Donald Little, made the star for the St. James tower in 1945 or 1946, when he got out of the service. He did it as a free gift to the church that year. It was created with the help of his father R. I. Little in the shop of R. I. Little and Sons. He didn't put it up on the tower himself. He didn't wire it. Wiring was done by Carl Harris, who lived across the street, also free of charge. The star has been on the church tower ever since. There were two sons of R. I. Little: Donald J.; and Raymond H. (Bud). Bud died about 1956. They bought the firm from the old man.

	The complete renovation plan has not yet been concluded, as the surgical areas are now being improved, and there are many areas in the wards that will eventually be renovated and redecorated. The hospital has set up a Home Health Care program, overseen by hospital staff members. An alcoholism treatment unit opened in January 1987. Many more changes completed. In the mean time, service to the community, and concerned professional care, continues to be the first aim of officials and staff alike.
