Atwater House (cont)	west. Built originally as a school. Rowena and Ed lived in Washburn house on Rose Street. She set her heart on Collins house. When father died a generous legacy made it possible to buy. House ugly inside. Present dining room cut up with closets. Kitchen impossible. Ed had shelves built in library, put one window in drawing room, added mantle. Grandmother Collins had a sort of greenhouse bay, not open to light room, built in wall of library. May have been done by Homelius - she doesn't seem to remember him. Ed got panelling for the library from South America. Rowena says her father left her a small legacy and she persuaded Edward to buy the Collins house with it. Homelius planned the renovation. It was then an ugly place. They put windows in the present dining room and in

	the kitchen. The library had no fireplace. Had little high window on east side at grandmother used to sit and watch neighbors. She kept a bottle of castor oil on window sill. She was an ugly old dame. Atwater added bookshelves. The front room is little changed - the Atwaters added windows. The small west side of the house was originally a school. Louis Collins and his bride lived there, becoming more cramped as children came. (Got wood for finishing library from South America.) Automobiles	Letter to Ruth from Irene. Dear Ruth: I have been looking for the first cars in Le Roy without much luck until this morning. Wilford told me that you came in to the Le Roy House, and in the "V" file, under "Vehicles", Ed found some information on automobiles in Le Roy. I couldn't believe it because we all had been looking and found nothing. Oh, well! Did you get a copy of it? In looking through old Gazette News I found: Dec. - 1904 - The first Franklin auto arrived in Le Roy, property of Dr. R. Lee Skinner (dentist), 12 horse power. March 1909 - During the week Watson & Eberhart sold automobiles to;	1-4-1985

- 1) Dr. Morton Skinner (MD) purchased a Lambert Model "30" five passenger touring car.
- 2) Charles Morris of Eagle Hotel purchased Lambert Model "30" touring car. Mr. Morris also purchased a Pierce (?) Arrow (32HP) seven passenger limousine car to be used for general service between all trains and the hotel.

August 1910 - New Le Roy Motor Car Company to open.

Bowen, Anna Cornelia	Born: September 8, 1857 in Batavia. Daughter of former State Senator George Bowen, 1870-74. He died in 1921 aged 89. Attended Batavia schools. Miss Porter's in Farmington, Conn. Cornell University - BS & PHD. UB. Harvard Annex for Women. Member of: Kappa Alpha Theta; SPCA and other humane societies; Society for Advancement of Science;

Buffalo Auto club.
Mary McCulley says she remembers a story about friends helping Anna get ready to go to some sort of party late in life. She had not been in the habit of going out and was very particular about details of dress. Mary says the story was that it took two days to wash and coif her, to get clothes in order, her person powdered and finished to her satisfaction, and by the time she was ready to go, she was too tired. Rumor also says she was neither pleasant nor friendly. Katherine McLellan says she lived on the farm on West Main Street and the McLellan family often saw her in her car, dogs on the back seat, one on the front seat with the Chauffeur.

Cannon (cont)	Cannon at Land Office reset. Lewis, Ms. history of Batavia in Richmond Library says one cannon from War of 1812, captured at Lundy's Lane, placed in Arsenal. When the Arsenal was razed it was bought by Dr. Charles Rand. When his home on Liberty Street was razed, it was moved to the Baker Gun lawn next door. When Baker Gun Co. was sold, it was given to the museum. History of the other cannon is obscure. See: Lewis. Historic cannon - once flanking Soldiers Monument - being buried in LeRoy. "History and Art do not blend." Two cannons that graced Trigon Park, LeRoy, buried where they stood. Charles Hamilton protests. Sons of Vets take up protest - cannon never fired - given to city in 1906 - buried by Park Commission. Only member of LeRoy GAR is Manfred Duguid - now member in Bat. Cannon given to village government. Cannon given DAR through interest of Sen. Wadsworth to be mounted in cement base and placed to mark Arsenal site. Past & Present column: ¶ on small, brass cannon on Land Office porch - fired in Buffalo in 1864 to celebrate Lincoln's election. Cannon buried in Trigon Park in LeRoy to be dug up, given to scrape drive.	5-1-1920 10-16-1925 1-12-1926 1-15-1926 7-13-1927 2-11-1933 4-9-1942

Casey, William C.	Obit - ex-mayor. (Recollections of Casey Bros. Grocery.)	12-15-1938
Casey Brothers Grocery	118Main Street. Batavia's longest running grocery firm - in business 40 years today. Bought store at 113 Main from James McDonnell & Son. Five years later bought building but could not get possession so moved to 118 Main, present location. Enlarged in 1882. 30 years ago there were 6 groceries in block between Jackson & Center Streets. Now only 2 the entire length of Main. Grocers who do not own building have been forced out by high rents. Liquor was a staple grocery item 40 years ago, which the grocer dispensed from barrels in carloads. Now 10 barrels is a large supply for a grocer. Bread began to be sold about 1895 - from one of Casey's. Purchase East Main property occupied by Troy Laundry from owner Emily Sager. Can't get East Main property now - will go into Miss Tompkin's building at 118 Main. Moved to 118 Main. Putting electric lights and motor in store. Past & Present column: Casey Bros moved to present address, 120 Main St., 25 years ago April 1st. Only one other grocer in business then. Past & Present column: ¶ on. Opened 40 years ago. Three of original customers still with them. Past & Present column: ¶ on, soon to close. On February 28, 1885, bought stock of groceries and the business of John McDonnell and started as Casey Brothers March 1st at 117 Main Street. Five years later moved across street to 118. John P. was then a tinsmith. William C., younger brother, a cigar maker in business for some years with several partners. In 1885, William was working for McLellan. Brothers have seen stock change from bulk to packaging. Increase of canned goods. Used to carry thousands of lamp chimneys. Sold liquor - a remunerative item except that customers expected to be treated. Opening liquor stores ended sales. Chain stores - many A & Ps - dealt a blow with bulk buying and low prices - picture of brothers. 113 Main Street later the Henning store. John P. Casey dead at 89. Originally a cigar maker. Had grocery with brother William C. Retired October 1, 1928. President of Genesee County Savings and Loan. J. E. Brown comments on. Cook of Batavia; and classmates - Dr. Louise Westlake of LeRoy and Dr. Edith Stuart of Hume. Mrs. Orson Moulton of Batavia played Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. Becomes health officer in absence of husband, now in service. Operated for gallstones. Dead at 58. Marian Artman says she was a very inexperienced mother when Jay was born and was frequently called to tend the dress shop her mother, Florence Johnson, ran in the front room of the Johnson home at 129 Bank Street. The Spofford's were at 33. One day Dr. Cheney-Spofford came looking for a dress and heard baby Jay screaming upstairs. After a bit she asked if Marian thought Dr. Manchester, Marian's doctor, would be offended if she took a look at the baby. Marian assured her he would not. So, Dr. Cheney-Spofford went up for a look and said the baby was just hungry, he wasn't getting enough to eat. She made up a formula for a new diet, on which Jay seems to have done very well.	3-19-1900 11-5-1900 6-15-1901 7-16-1901 2-5-1902 8-7-1902 8-8-1902 4-30-1918 4-8-1932 4-11-1932 2-17-1983

Colt Clamp Co. (cont)	Dr. Gardner converting barn on his place on Center Street and putting on an addition - Asa King builder - to make clamps and building supplies.	4-12-1902

	Builds addition on Center Street.	4-30-1915
	Dr. Gardner tells Rotary story of Colt Clamp. In the 70s, Alva M. Colt, associated with John L. Foster in the wagon business, in a building just north of the Cottage Restaurant on State Street. After dissolution of the partnership, Colt hit on an idea of using the cam, or eccentric, to make a quick acting clamp to hold together work until glue dried. Started to make clamps about 1880 in a corner of Thomas Mogridge's wagon shop on Seaver Place. Got patent on clamp, February 8, 1881. Colt was then the whole company, made clamps, sold them, kept books and made own collection. As business prospered he joined forces with Moses E. True and moved into his machine shop on Exchange Place where the partners added ax hand saw sets, wagon jacks and so on. About that time John M. Sweet invented a concealed band hub and joined Colt & True. Formed Batavia Wheel Company on Exchange, sharing the building with News. When building burned, the three partners built on Walnut Street. Dr. William C. Gardiner, who had been v.p. of Wheel Works, purchased clamp and hardware part of company and equipped place at 37 Center Street. In 1923, enlarged by adding cement block building - present factory in 1926. From talk to Rotary.	2-17-1926

A note in the Daily News asks for information about Monica. It was signed by Richard Weininger, 415 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10017. The name, Richard Weininger, is signed on several notes and cards in the Dailey file at the Land Office - one which speaks of some time caring for her.	4-29-1967
Dorothy Hilchey says she was a nurse on the ward when Monica finally had to go for her final illness. She says her hair had been ? At home, and was a harsh bright mess. When it was thoroughly shampooed it was perfectly white in color and of a beautiful fine texture - hair she should have been proud of. Almeta George says one of the stories told her when she came to Batavia in 1946 was that Monica had fallen in love in Germany, and had been jilted. Mary McCulley says it was generally believed that Monica was waiting for a letter that never came. She did go to Germany in 1903 and 1914.	5-31-1984
Bill Collins says Monica used to stay at night with the Collins' her last years. She allowed them to believe she abandoned her concert career because Batavia gave her poor support. Bill says a large ball was scheduled the day of her concert in the Dellinger Theatre, and that was the last straw.	December 1987

Dailey, Monica (cont)	Winegar remembers. Picture of after her first communion with paragraph about her and her family. Special section.	12-30-1998 5-22-1999
	FOLLOWING ARE UNDATED: A woman who was companion to Monica in later life says the Dailey family did not approve of the woman Joseph married and did not want her to inherit any Daily property. This is why everything was left to St. Joseph's Church. Marian Artman says Monica came to her mother to have a dress made for a concert in Europe - a dress with a train. Marian was taking piano lessons from Mrs. McCarthy and unhappy with her. Monica went to the piano and helped Marian - who was about 6. Monica was breathtakingly beautiful, and very sweet. She had to get a sheet from upstairs to keep the train from being soiled. She says: a concert in Germany. Anne Reilly says that when her son Jim was in high school he used to dust the Dailey house from top to bottom on Saturday to make money for school. Miss Dailey, to make a dull job more bearable, would play the piano while he worked - all the lovely classical music he loved.
